MBELDEF DONATION

MBELDEF (Minority Business Enterprise Legal Defense and Education Fund) is the nation's only legal defense organization dedicated solely to defending the rights and legal interests of minority businesses enterprises (MBEs). Since 1980, MBELDEF has been an indefatigable watchdog for the legal interests of minority-owned businesses. In the aftermath of the Supreme Court's recent decision to curtail affirmative action in higher education, anti-diversity legal groups, through threats, lawsuits, and political pressure, are working to intimidate any entities (both public and private) involved in any efforts to promote diversity and civil rights. Minority businesses are fighting for every dollar they earn and often do not have the time, or legal training to fight these battles alone. For this reason, the Minority Business Enterprise Legal Defense and Education Fund - MBELDEF, a 501 (c)3 non-profit organization is here to fight to protect the rights of MBEs.

SUPPORT MBELDEF

The Houston Minority Supplier Development Council urges you to support the Minority Business Enterprise Legal Defense Fund (MBELDEF), founded in 1980 by the esteemed late Congressman Parren Mitchell (D-MD). MBELDEF stands as the nation's preeminent legal defense organization singularly devoted to upholding the rights and legal interests of MBEs. With a storied history of defending minority-owned businesses, even during resource constraints, MBELDEF remains a vigilant protector of these crucial interests.
